

Welcome to Mesmatters, rounding up our recent perspectives on quality improvement in further education and skills.

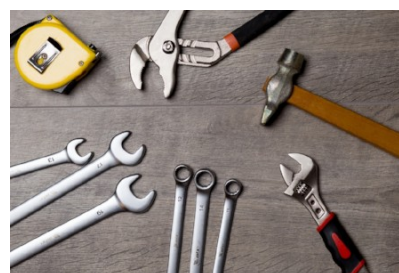

The Augar report into post 18 education: much more than university tuition fees.

In addition to a wide ranging review of the current post 18 system, the independent panel report makes 53 recommendations for the government focused on: skills, higher education, further education, apprenticeships, the student contribution (finance) system, and a post 18 maintenance system.

Deep dive reviews will form a key part of the Ofsted inspector's toolkit under EIF.

The "Inspecting the curriculum" paper outlines the methodologies that Ofsted will use to support inspections under the EIF. Mesma's insightQ quality model champions the use of deep dive reviews in self-evaluation so it was great for us to see this approach taking a key role in inspections from September 2019.

Online quality improvement events this June

Using insightQ to get ahead on quality improvement

14th / 28th June 2019. 12:30 - 13:30

Providers will often look for ways to be on the front foot on quality improvement in order to stay ahead. This open session will give you an overview of the insightQ quality improvement model and software, and it will outline how other providers are using insightQ to enhance quality. There will be plenty of opportunities for questions and discussion around how the system works in practice.

Moving over to the Ofsted Education Inspection Framework on insightQ

19th June 2019. 10:00 - 10:45

This webinar is for providers who are currently using, or are considering using, the insightQ quality improvement software for self-evaluation, improvement planning, observations or quality reviews. This webinar will be hosted by Carole Loader, Co-Founder and Director at Mesma. Carole will share how the EIF will look within the software and enable providers to start their transition in the system.

Using the Ofsted EIF to support self assessment & deep-dive enquiries

19th June 2019. 12:30 - 13:30

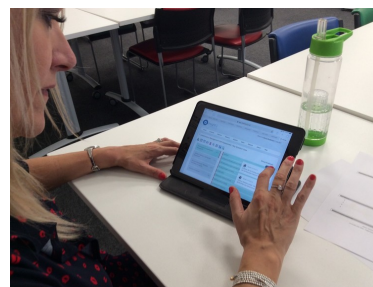

With the publication of the Ofsted Education Inspection Framework, Mesma will be taking a look at how providers within Further Education, Skills and Apprenticeships can use the new framework for self-assessment and deep-dive enquiries. This webinar will be hosted by Louise Doyle, Co-Founder and Director at Mesma.

Local authority benefits from insight into quality of training provision.

Online technology is enabling this local authority-training provider to improve quality assurance and be Ofsted-ready at the press of a button.

In this case study, Sonia from Gateshead Council explains that "The team benefit from shared ownership of the system, seeing the critical information about achievement and improvement across the entire operation. This makes for more informed decisions as we move forward to embrace a changing training landscape."

Gateshead Council using insightQ

Copyright © 2019 Mesma Limited, All rights reserved.

Twitter

LinkedIn

You have received this email because in the past you have provided Mesma with your email address or because we feel that this information will be of interest to you in a professional capacity.

We have recently updated our Privacy Policy. Please take a moment to read this. You can unsubscribe from these emails at anytime using the links below.

Our address is:
27/28 Fredrick Street, Sunderland. SR1 1LZ